WHEAT WEAK AND LOWER-CORN LOWER AND MODERATELY ACTIVE-A BREAK IN PRO-

[SY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.] CHICAGO, Feb. 7, 1801.—May wheat ranged to-day at 871/60, a 085/60.—little at the outside—and there was one sale at 97c., closing at 973/60, bid. There was a fair degree of activity in the local trade, but outside business was of activity in the local trade, but outside business was of rather light volume, and the feeling was generally very weak and the market decidedly lower. The news of time day, while not especially important, was generally unfavorable for helders. The weather throughout the winter wheat belt was reported fine. In connection with beary Northwestern receipla it is reported that they are swelled by the liberal arrival of Oregon and Washington wheat. The sentiment of the trade seemed decidedly fittish, and there was free skilling most of the session, with little demand.

there was free selling most of the session, with little demonstrated and proven than pesterday for May The receipts were less than expected. The trade was dull and narrow. The waskness in what was quickly reflected in the corn pix, and the offerings were quite liberal, with the domain generally singgish. Initial sales of May were at 505ge, a 505ge, but the free offerings and the weak condition of the wheat market seen affected cern. There was a decline of about 5ge. May selling sparingly at 505ge, and closing at about 55ge.

There was invertigated a fresh in prices. First, receipts of here were 10,000 more than expected; then for Monday it, is calculated we shall have 42,000, and for the coming week 220,000. Added to these facts came a brook in the grain markets, so that the whole situation presented a decided bearieb aspect. There was a good business transached, and while prices broke off rather sharply there was no liquidation and fall inside prices were not maintained. Shippers purchased sparingly. They always do on a market of this kine. May pork solve of 50c, per britten and 50 for ribs.
